Skidel Gymnasia

Our native town is Skidel.
Skidel is located in an area that frequently shifted between Polish and Russian control.

The word “skidal” means “shore” in Belarusian. The town of Skidel may have been named for the process of shipping freight across the Skidalski River. Apparently the bridge at Skidel was very poor and freight was left on the shore to be carried across by ferry.

The first mention of the town Skidel in in the mid-16th century. Our town will celebrate 500 years old.

In 1795 after the division of Rzecz Pospolita the princes Chetvertinskiys became the owners of the township Skidel.

In the picture you can see the towers which adorned the gates of Chetvertinskiy's Yard. The family lived in Skidel before 1939. The offspring of the Chetvertinskiys live in Belgium, Poland, France, Canada and Switzerland.

There is both a Senior and Primary school. The senior school has resources for technology, visual arts, laboratory sciences and physical education. It is also an International Baccalaureate program.

This is the inside of Doha's City Centre. This is the biggest shopping mall in Doha. This is only the entry, it is so much bigger. It has four floors. On the first floor, it is pretty much where kids have fun; it has ice skating, swimming, game room, bowling alley and more. The second floor has the Supermarket called Carrefour. It also has a few shops. The third floor has pretty much all shops for clothes, toys and books. The fourth has the fast food restaurants and some shops.

This is a normal mosque in Doha. In Qatar, there are many Muslims and so there are a lot of mosques in which they pray in.

This is Jassim Bin Hamad Stadium. This is a famous stadium in which the Qatari football team Al-Sadd play. This stadium has 15000 seats. Also, in Qatar, the Asian Games were held. So many games were held there.

This is a view of the Corniche of Doha. This is the coastline of the sea where people exercise, ride boats around the Corniche, and enjoy the beauty of the sea.

This is Orry the Oryx, the mascot of the Asian Games. He is 15 meters high. The thing behind him says how many days, hours, minutes and seconds left until the Asian Games start. Now it is zero, so this is after the Asian games took place. There are many other statues of Orry, but this is the biggest.

Our fifth grade class does an annual photo project – this year’s theme, “Edficando Momentos – Building Moments” required students to look at various famous (and perhaps not so famous) buildings in Long Beach and photograph them to highlight what the students’ perceived as the buildings’ artistic properties. Please enjoy some of their work and observations here:

This looks like a king's balcony and the king is going to come and make an announcement to the public.

Above is a picture I took of the Aquarium of the Pacific's parking center. They made it look like cheese. When I look at this picture I see cheese and waves. Can you also see the waves? I think the waves have to do with the Aquarium's theme. I got this picture when I went to Down Town Long Beach with my parents to take pictures for our photo project. I like the Palm Trees in the background.

Here in Qatar football is the most commonly played sport. It is played by almost everybody who is able to play. The main reason I like it is because I've been raised with football around me, in other words I have played it for a long time. Not only do I play football for fun, but I actually play football professionally, since I play in a football club. One of the reasons that I enjoy football is because I can play it anywhere at any time, and also because if I have a ball I can always play with anybody I meet who truly likes the beauty of football. Joga Bonito!! (Play beautiful in Brazilian).

I think my family is special because we all have are own bikes .The one on the left is a 350 Raptor. On the right is a 400. The last one is a 450.I have a 125 and it is blue. One other thing that I think is special is the people in our house. My dad is Steve. My mom's name is Lisa. I also have three brothers. The oldest is Jake. He is thirteen. I am 12 and my name is Jeff. John is 11 and Josh is also 11. If you have looked closely you would know that all of our names start with J. So those are a few things that I think are special.

SCHOOL DAYS

Hello ! I am Arteom. I study at 6 B. My favourite subject at school is Information Science. I like to listen to music and play mobile games during the recess. My classes starts at 8.10. Hi! My name's Olga. I study at 6 B. I go to school 6 days a week. I get up early. I live far from School and go to school by bus. I usually have 5 lessons a day. Sometimes we have concerts and competitions. In the picture you can see how I am preparing for English.

Qatar Academy

During every school day, our grade first goes to homeroom. After getting attendance in homeroom, the class starts to move to the first period. Nearly every day, all the students pass through the main foyer at least two to three times. The school is full of exciting places to visit. The best places where friends hang out are the main Foyer and the Diamond and the Library. Once every often, the school hosts a Bake Sale and most students go and enjoy the food.

During school, students learn new things and, if you were naughty that day, you get detentions from certain teachers who think that you misbehaved during class. During a normal school day, you experience some tiredness since most of the time you have to change floors from one class to another, in less than 5 minutes. But overall, Qatar academy is a very educational and enjoyable school.

This is the Head of Trinity, Mr. Dukehart and his wife. This is Mr. Dukehart's first year as head of Trinity.

Mr. Jenkins is the Middle School Principal.

Our 5th and 6th grade classes recently went on a field study to Washington D.C. This is me (Meryl) with my friend, Emilie, on the plane!!! As you can see we were both happy. My hair was a little bit messed up!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

president of the U.S. lived and where he is buried.

This is a picture with my friends and me. I am the one at the very end on the right. We are at the Arlington cemetery. This place has many brave people who died fighting for the U.S., the eternal flame, and the changing of the guards.

This was when we went to the air and space museum in Washington DC. I loved this picture because the air and space museum was very fun and very big! We saw lot and lots of really cool planes, we even saw Concord, a very fast passenger plane. We also went into the simulator which was big, and looked like a rollercoaster pod.

Washington DC was the best field trip I have ever had in my life. I saw the old train station, the Washington Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, and we even got a private tour of the Capitol Building. We even got to see the play Fiddler on the Roof and have a really fancy dinner. Washington DC was really fun because I was also with all of my friends. We even got to eat lunch by ourselves. It was the best field trip in the world. At least until another out of the state field trip.

This is our class in front of the white house. We were not able to go in because of safety reasons. Yet we were glad to be able to see it. And because of 9/11 nobody can drive any vehicles there and has now become just a place to walk and a very big tourist attraction.

CULTURE

Here in Qatar, there are a lot of Muslims, so many wear the scarf. Since it is hot in Qatar, they wear a black fabric that isn't thick. It is called an abiah. They wear the same type of fabric to cover their heads. These are called shailas. Abiahs and shailas come in different designs.

Qatari men wear a jalabiah, this is white loose fabric. They also wear fabric, sometimes white and sometimes red and white on their heads and a black loop to hold it.

Qatar has many celebrations all in one year. One of the most important is Eid. Eid happens twice a year after Ramadan, but Ramadan happens only once. The first one is at the beginning of the year and the second in near the end. The two Eids are Eid Al-Fitr, and Eid Al-Adha. This is a time for all the people in Qatar, Muslims or not, get to celebrate, get off work and school, and enjoy the colourful lights and fireworks that happen in Qatar. This is a time for Muslims to go with their families, and be happy. The children are the happiest of all because they get money and gifts from their relatives. One of the greetings said to everyone, during this time is Eid Mubarak. That means have a good Eid. Eid is usually three to four days. In this period, people and children have no school and some have no work and enjoy Eid. There are festivals where people can eat Arabic food and get Henna.

Washington D.C.

Just a little bit ago, my class and the fifth grade went to Washington D.C. I really liked the trip, and among my favorite parts was visiting the Capitol Building. We got to go inside and take a tour. We even got to go into the rotunda directly under the Statue of Freedom. It was really cool! We also got to see the original spot George Washington was to be buried, even though he was buried at his Mount Vernon home instead.

Overall, this was my favorite part of the trip.

This is a picture of the White House. This is where the President of the United States of America lives. His family also lives here. Most of the building is underground, but there is also an east and west wing. Those wings aren't in this picture because they were too big for the frame. He and his family live above ground in the 2nd and 3rd floors of the White House. It's a pretty big place.

I like these two pictures because they remind me of the best times I had in Washington D.C. My picture of Abraham Lincoln because it was the most interesting monument that I saw. It was a lot bigger than I thought it would be. The picture of my friends in the airplane is here because riding the airplane was the funniest of all of them. We never went to see the Washington monument but we saw it from far away; it also was taller than I thought.

Hello and welcome to the Washington Capitol virtual tour. Your tour guide today will be Emilie Sohl. Hello and welcome my name is Emilie Sohl and I recently have gone to Washington D.C. with my class and the 5th grade. I know a great amount of information since I had a professional tour guide in Washington D.C. that was previously a news journalist for the White House.
